Student information, rights & responsibilities

RIST conducts training at various locations to suit students' needs, course type and learning styles. The following student etiquette guidelines will help foster a healthy learning environment for all students.

ASSESSMENT

All assessments must be submitted by the due date. If you are having difficulty completing an assessment, you should discuss it with your trainer well in advance of the due date. This way the trainer may be able to offer support or grant additional time. Please note there may be conditions or penalties to gaining an extension.

RIST has detailed policies and procedures surrounding assessment which have been outlined for your below. The full Assessment Policy can be made available to you on request.

Assessment malpractice

Assessment malpractice includes cheating, collusion and plagiarism.

RIST regards the integrity of assessment as critical to its professional responsibilities as a RTO and therefore strives to ensure the assessment processes are not compromised. RIST has policies and procedures in place for dealing with assessment malpractice.

- Cheating -

All assessments must be 100% your own work. Cheating or the use of another person's work and submitting it as your own is cheating and will not be tolerated.

- Collusion -

Collusion is the presentation of work, which is the result in whole or in part of unauthorised collaboration with another person or persons. It is your responsibility to ensure that other students do not have opportunity to copy your work.

- Plagiarism -

Is the practice of representing another person's work as your own or the use of another person's work without acknowledgement.

Copying from a published work (including the internet), without referencing, will not be tolerated. This includes presentation of work which has been copied in whole or in part from another person's work or from any other source such as the Internet, published books, and periodicals. This includes systematic re-wording or changing key nouns and verbs.

Referencing

Referencing is an important part of any written assessment work you complete. Referencing is a consistent method of acknowledging or citing another person's ideas which you have used in your own project or assessment.

You must follow referencing guidelines if you take another person's idea and put it into your own words. There are two parts to referencing:

- the note within the text of your assessment following your quotation giving the author's name, year of publication, page, chapter in brackets, e.g. (House and Willis, 2006, 56-67)
- within the reference list at the end of your assessment where full details are provided, eg. House, J., and Willis, P.2006. Management Fundamentals: a practical guide. 3rd edition. Melbourne: Knowles Publishing

ATTENDANCE

Attendance at training is recorded each session. These records are required for both learning and health and safety reasons. Student attendance at training is paramount to successful completion of learning and assessment outcomes. Students are expected to be in attendance for all training sessions.

It is expected that students arrive to class on time and remain for the full duration. Should it be necessary for you to leave early, you must advise the trainer before class commences.

All training sessions are designed to provide students the essential knowledge and skills required for relevant units of competency. It is expected however that students will undertake additional reading and research.

Please advise RIST if you are going to be absent from a scheduled class or activity - 24 hours' prior notice is required (where possible).

If you are absent from class it is your responsibility to catch up on any work missed. A minimum overall attendance rate of 85% is required to be maintained during your studies. Attendance rates are regularly monitored. If it is identified that you are at risk of failing to meet the minimum attendance rate, RIST will contact you to discuss your personal circumstances and identify how you can be supported to continue engaging in your training. Should a mutually satisfactory resolution not be reached, you may be required to withdraw from either the individual unit of competency or training program. Refer to the Refund Policy for more details.

As a courtesy to other students and the trainer, all students must be punctual throughout the training day, including returning from breaks. Punctuality shows respect and is essential to avoid disruption to other students and the trainer.

Course Information

ACCREDITED TRAINING PROGRAMS

Accredited programs are competency based which means that training and assessment focuses on the development and recognition of a person's ability to apply relevant knowledge and skills to perform workplace tasks to a specified standard.

The specific skills and knowledge required for a particular workplace activity are set out in Units of Competency which can be grouped together to formulate the completion of a nationally recognised qualification. Nationally recognised qualifications are outlined in Training Packages. These can be viewed at www.training.gov.au.

Each qualification has a list of employability skills which describe the non-technical skills and competencies that are important for effective and successful participation in the workforce. For each qualification there are specific employability skills listed under the following headings:

- Communication
- Teamwork
- Problem solving
- Initiative and enterprise
- Planning and organising
- Self-management
- Learning
- Technology.

These employability skills will be part of the assessment requirements of a nationally accredited course.

Competency

It is important to note that the rules and requirements of a Unit of Competency and a qualification are applied to all students regardless of where they are, or the mode of training delivery provided. You could be a full-time student in a classroom or the workplace, or you could be applying for recognition of the skills and knowledge currently held.

Each unit of competency is made up of the following:

- Elements;
- Performance criteria;
- Required knowledge and skills;
- A range of variables;
- Critical aspects of evidence;
- Any pre or co requisites (if applicable).

To be deemed Competent in any Unit of Competency you must be able to provide evidence of the required skills and knowledge to complete work tasks to the standard that is required in the workplace. Skills need to be demonstrated in a range of situations and environments (which could include simulated applications in a learning environment) over a period of time.

Evidence

Evidence is the material proof that you have performed the specified competency or task to the required standard. These requirements are determined by the unit of competency, employability skill requirements, industry expectations, Government regulations, and your qualifications and current experience.

Assessment tools that we will provide to you set out the exact requirements for evidence for each unit/module. Evidence can take many forms and you will be required to present more than just one piece of evidence. Examples of evidence could include one or more of the following:

- Specific assessments tasks set by your Assessor
- Observation reports
- Certificates and awards
- Examples of work completed or special projects
- Current licenses
- Position descriptions and performance reviews
- Third party reports
- Question responses
- Tests

Your evidence must also demonstrate the following:

- That you can do the job or task to the required standard.
- Understand why the job should be done in a particular way.
- Handle unexpected issues or problems
- Work with others 'in a team'.
- Do more than one thing at a time, e.g. perform the task and be aware of the work health and safety requirements.
- Know the workplace rules and procedures.

ASSESSMENT

Assessment is an integral part of your learning if you wish to complete successfully and gain certification. The assessment process will be explained at orientation and throughout your program. Trainers will also be available to you if you have any questions.

Assessment is the process of collecting evidence and making judgement on whether competency has been achieved to confirm that an individual can perform to the standards expected in the workplace and as expressed in relevant competency standards.

Throughout the training program you will be assessed to see if you have gained the necessary skills and knowledge to achieve the qualification. Your trainer is required to ensure that the assessment tasks you undertake meet the national principles of assessment and rules of evidence (see below for more information).

Various assessments tasks /activities may be involved including, but not limited to:

- observation of performance
- assignments
- written activities
- written / oral questioning
- oral presentations
- workplace performance
- projects
- case studies
- role plays/ simulations
- demonstration of skills
- online assessments
- portfolio of evidence

Certification will only be given to students who successfully complete all assessment requirements for a course.

RIST is required to meet stringent quality requirements in the conduct of all assessments. RIST has carefully constructed and developed assessment resources to meet these quality requirements, as well as be user friendly to students.

Principles of assessment

Assessments will be conducted in accordance with the following principles of assessment.

Valid

Any assessment decision of RIST is justified, based on the evidence of performance of the individual student. Validity requires:

- Assessment against the unit/s of competency and the associated assessment requirement covers the broad range of skills and knowledge that are essential to competent performance;
- Assessment of knowledge and skills is integrated with their practical application;
- Assessment to be based on evidence that demonstrates that a student could demonstrate these skills and knowledge in other similar situations; and
- Judgement of competence is based on evidence of student performance that is aligned to the unit/s of competency and associated assessments requirements.

Reliable

Evidence presented for assessment is consistently interpreted and assessment results are comparable irrespective of the assessor conducting the assessment.

Flexible

Assessment is flexible to the individual student by:

- Reflecting the student's needs;
- Assessing competencies held by the student no matter how or where they have been acquired; and
- Drawing from a range of assessment methods and using those that are appropriate to the context, the unit of competency and associated assessment requirements, and the individual.

The individual student's needs are considered in the assessment process.

Where appropriate reasonable adjustments are applied by RIST to take into account the individual student's needs.

Fair

RIST informs the student about the assessment process, and provides the student with the opportunity to challenge the result of the assessment and be reassessed if necessary

Rules of evidence and assessment

RIST is required to ensure that all evidence provided by students, as proof of their competency, meets the following “rules of

Valid

The trainer is assured that the student has the skills, knowledge and attributes as described in the module or unit of competency and associated assessment requirements.

Sufficient

The trainer is assured that the quality, quantity and relevance of the assessment evidence enables a judgement to be made of a student's competency.

Authentic

The trainer is assured that the evidence presented for assessment is the student's own work.

Current

The trainer is assured that the assessment evidence demonstrates current competency. This requires the assessment evidence to be from the present or the very recent past.

Course Assessment

There will be assessment tasks set for each course regardless of the learning mode. Assessment activities and expectations will be explained to students and are outlined within student / assessment resources.

Many courses require assessment to be completed after the course as workplace performance is essential in competency based learning.

Submission of assessments

- All assessments are to be submitted electronically through the Learning Management System.
- All assessments should be typed and in Microsoft compatible file formats.
- Handwritten assessments are accepted, however, handwriting must be clear and easy to read.
- If you are mailing an assignment, it must be received by the due date. RIST does not accept responsibility for any lost assignments. Please ensure you keep a copy of your assignment prior to submission.
- All assignments are registered as they are received.
- We endeavour to assess all assessments within 10 business days of receipt.
- Students are entitled to three attempts per assessment. If after three attempts the re-submission is still deemed not satisfactory, students may be offered the opportunity to undertake the unit of competency again at another time. Students must re-enrol in the unit of competency again, paying the full course tuition fee for that individual unit of the day.

Assessment Results

Students access all assessment results and trainer feedback via the Learning Management System. Results of assessment are provided to students as soon as is practical. Assessment results remain confidential and will not be given to any other party unless a written request signed by the student is received in advance.

Reasonable Adjustment

Students with disabilities are encouraged to discuss with RIST any 'reasonable adjustments' to learning and assessment processes which they consider would be necessary to assist them in the performance of their studies.

Careful consideration will be given to any requests for reasonable adjustment of this nature, and where reasonably practicable, such adjustments will be made. There may, however, be circumstances where it will not be reasonable or reasonably practicable for RIST to accommodate or where other adjustment may be more appropriate. Reasonable adjustments cannot compromise the integrity of competency based training and assessment.

Extensions for assessment

If you are unable to submit an assessment by the due date, you must notify your trainer and offer an explanation. You may have to provide evidence supporting your explanation. Once you have provided an acceptable explanation, alternative assessment arrangements may be made. This is not a right but a privilege offered so all effort must be made to complete assessments by the due date.

CERTIFICATES

Certificates are presented to students at Graduation. If students are unable to attend, their Certificate will be posted to their nominated postal address. The onus is on the student to ensure their address details are correct. Certificates are only provided once all course fees have been paid in full.

Certificates will not be sent to other parties without the expressed prior written permission from the student. Duplicate or replacement copies of certificates may incur a fee.

Types

RIST issue four types of certificates. Certificates can only be awarded by RIST in accordance with our approved qualification scope.

- Qualification – issued under the Australian Qualification Framework (AQF) for nationally recognised training. Full qualifications can only be issued once the student has been deemed competent across all relevant units of competency making up the qualification.
- Statement of Results – accompanies a qualification issued under the Australian Qualification Framework (AQF) for nationally recognised training. This document supplements the qualification, listing all units of competency achieved for the qualification.
- Statement of Attainment (SOA) – issued under the Australian Qualification Framework (AQF) for nationally recognised training. Issued when a student is deemed competent in a unit or multiple units of competency. Minimum achievement for a SOA is one unit of competency. You can request a SOA at any time.
- Certificate of Attendance – for non-accredited training. Issued when a Student attends a short course or workshop which is not within the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF). To receive a Certificate of Attendance, the student must have a satisfactory attendance rate.

COURSE DELIVERY

RIST ensures the following resources are in place:

- Trainers and assessors with appropriate qualifications and experience;
- Course materials appropriate to the methods of delivery and assessment requirements;
- All necessary copyright authorisations;
- Appropriate equipment and facilities.

Training and assessment methods used by RIST meet specific quality requirements and are chosen to best suit the unit of competency, while giving consideration to the learning style of the student. The provision of training often includes a blended approach with a combination of on and off-the-job methods.

A number of delivery methods will be used throughout training to help you achieve the necessary skills. Learning is a partnership that involves participation from all involved.

Delivery methods may include, but are not limited to:

- practical demonstrations
- audio/visual presentations
- group participation/discussions
- trainer/facilitator instruction
- practical activities
- self-paced activities
- individual projects
- workplace based training
- case studies

FLEXIBLE DELIVERY

Flexible delivery focuses on learning rather than teaching to provide the best possible learning experience for the student. This means the student has greater control over what, when and how they learn.

RIST offers various forms of delivery to accommodate the varying needs of students. Modes of delivery available for most courses include classroom (face-to-face), workplace-based, online, virtual classrooms, Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), Recognition of Current Competency (RCC), or a combination of these.

LANGUAGE, LITERACY, NUMERACY AND DIGITAL SKILLS

Each qualification has a minimum requirement for the language, literacy, numeracy and digital skills of participants as determined by industry, and with which RIST must abide.

RIST makes appropriate concessions for any language, literacy, numeracy and digital support needs of students where they do not compromise the qualification requirements and the integrity, equity and fairness of assessment.

Where there are specific entry requirements for courses e.g. literacy levels in English and numeracy, these are clearly stated in your pre-enrolment and enrolment information.

Advice is given to all students on appropriate actions if there is a need to update any language, literacy, numeracy and/or digital skills. RIST can assist in providing this additional development prior to completing an application for enrolment into any program.

In addition to students receiving any required skills support prior to commencing their training at RIST, the online learning management system used for all programs has a number of accessibility features.

RECOGNITION

Recognition is a collective term, and includes:

- Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)
- Recognition of Current Competency (RCC)
- Credit Transfer (CT); and
- Mutual Recognition (MR).

All students may apply for recognition, meaning you can submit evidence for a Unit(s) of Competency and have it assessed by a qualified Assessor without completing the training.

RIST believes no student should be required to undertake a unit of competency for which they are already able to demonstrate satisfactory achievement of the performance outcomes, as stated in the endorsed training package or nationally recognised course.

RIST aims to maximise the recognition of a student's prior skills and knowledge whilst maintaining the integrity and standards of the defined learning outcomes of the specific qualification or course of study. Students who consider they already possess the competencies identified in all or part of any course/qualification offered by RIST may seek recognition.

If you think you have the necessary knowledge and skills to match a unit(s) of competency or a qualification at the required standard, please speak with the Operations Manager or Chief Executive Officer on 1800 883 343 who will provide the information you need to complete an application.

Recognition process

Recognition is a method of assessing if you have evidence of competency for a particular unit of competency that you are enrolled in. It is important to remember that Recognition is an assessment process not an assumption of competence.

Recognition is the determination, on an individual basis, of the competencies obtained by a student through:

- previous formal training
- work experience, and/or
- life experience.

Recognition, therefore, determines the subsequent advanced standing to which the student is entitled in relation to a course/qualification. The main focus of Recognition is what has been learned rather than how, where or when it was learned. Recognition focuses on both the demonstration of competence and the currency of that competence to industry standards.

It is important to note, the onus is on the student to document and present evidence to justify a claim for recognition and present their case to the satisfaction of the Assessor.

Any documents that you provide to support your claim of competency must be the originals rather than copies. Your original documents will be photocopied and handed back to you. It is also expected that any evidence submitted is your own and if any part of the work is the work of others, that this is formally acknowledged and advised.

Recognition decision

Regardless of the type of evidence that you submit, the assessor must be confident that the evidence meets the following criteria:

- Full requirements of the Unit of Competency(s);
- Any Regulatory requirements;
- Authenticity - that it is your own evidence and can be authenticated;
- That you can perform the competency consistently and reliably;
- Is at the standard expected in industry and set out in the Australian Qualification Framework (AQF);
- Sufficiency - there is sufficient evidence to make a judgment.

RIST is committed to ensuring that all judgments made by an assessor against the same competency standards are consistent. Your assessor will examine the evidence that you present and then make a judgment on that evidence which will be either:

- Competent (C) - you have been deemed satisfactory against all the requirements of the unit/s of competency
- Not Competent (NC) - you have not yet demonstrated competency to all requirements.

Your assessor will advise you what you can do if you are deemed not satisfactory in the assessment/s. You are allowed two other attempts to complete the task satisfactorily. However, if you are deemed not satisfactory in the third attempt, you will be deemed not competent in the unit/s of competency and required to re-enrol. Please talk to your assessor if you have any concerns.

For further information on Recognition, please see RIST's Recognition Policy.

Mutual Recognition & Credit Transfer

RIST recognises the AQF qualifications and Statements of Attainment (SoA) issued by other Registered Training Organisations (RTOs). This is commonly referred to as Mutual Recognition or Credit Transfer. Mutual Recognition is applicable when a SoA or qualification obtained by a student has the same national competency code as those that form part of the training and assessment program within which the student is enrolled or is intending to enrol. Students are required to formally apply for mutual recognition and provide evidence to substantiate their request in the form of original transcripts. With mutual recognition students are not required to undertake learning in the unit/s again, the student is exempt.

SPECIAL NEEDS

Students intending to undertake training with RIST are requested to advise us if they have any physical or other impairment (eg. English language, literacy or numeracy difficulties, dyslexia, etc) which may adversely affect their ability to successfully undertake training and assessment, prior to enrolment.

Students with disabilities or impairments are encouraged to discuss with the Operations Manager or Chief Executive Officer any 'special needs' and/or 'reasonable adjustments' to the study environment which they consider are necessary or would assist them in the performance of their studies.

The Operations Manager or Chief Executive Officer, in collaboration with the student, will assess the potential for the student to successfully complete the training which may include flexible delivery options to optimise the ease and benefit of the student's learning.

TRAINEESHIPS & APPRENTICESHIPS

In agriculture, an apprenticeship is referred to as a traineeship. A traineeship is the name of the Government program aimed at assisting employers to provide a structured training program for employees that is directly related to their workplace.

New and experienced employees may be enrolled in a traineeship program where the Government has identified a need in that industry or occupation. The program is delivered during normal working hours, with many parts being undertaken on-the-job. The training program allows you to work at your own pace as long as you meet the general traineeship progression timetable.

Traineeships are generally for periods of between 12 and 24 months depending on the traineeship field in which you are employed. Training can be on-the-job, off-the-job, or a combination of both in accordance with a training plan prepared by RIST in conjunction with your employer and yourself. Under this arrangement, you as the trainee undergo training, and your employer provides any on-the-job training and allows you the time to complete the training.

Undertaking a traineeship is a great way to commence your vocational training and participate in part or full time work. You will gain knowledge and skills through a combination of work and structured training leading to a Nationally Recognised qualification. Australian traineeships are available to eligible participants aged 15 years and older.

TRAINERS AND ASSESSORS

All RIST trainers and assessors are qualified in training and assessment in the vocational area which they are delivering. They have significant practical experience and maintain their currency in industry.
